

BUILDING BETTER PARTNERSHIPS

CORE is a customized employer-driven model that establishes or supports a company's strategic disability inclusion initiative by aligning it with government programs to hire, train and retain people with disabilities in meaningful careers.

The CORE model begins with an organization's leadership both recognizing the importance of disability inclusion and committing to measurable steps towards a more inclusive workplace. With your support, our disability employment consultants immerse themselves into your culture, training and daily operations to learn about what makes your company unique. After completing our workplace observations and gathering information, we will deliver a customized training focused on what disability inclusion means within your organization. This foundation serves as your team's knowledge base and supports your strategic initiative through the model's last phase, where you will train and hire jobseekers with disabilities while creating a more diverse culture and brand.

BUILD RELATIONSHIPS

We build long-lasting partnerships and relationships, resulting in better hiring practices and better employee retention

OPERATIONAL OBSERVATIONS

A representative will be immersed into the location's daily procedures to better understand their unique business, culture, and needs.

TRAINING AND DIRECT EMPLOYMENT

Candidates who align with the employer's customized profile will participate in On-the-Job Training and direct employment with support from CORE representative.
